PART I: READING COMPREHENSION (50 MARKS)

Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow:

On a cold, dark winter's evening in 1988, John Hickes and Richard Williams were driving to a friend's house near Canterbury when they saw a bright red object shining in the fields about 500 meters in front of them. As they drove nearer they were surprised to find a large area of hot melted iron boiling on the ground like a pool of lava.

Parts of the metal were taken to the nearby University of Kent where they were found to contain iron and small amounts of aluminium. A specialist of the University concluded that the material could not have come from a meteor and space experts said it could not have come from an aeroplane or a rocket.

Of course there were suggestions that the whole thing might have been a practical joke but this would have been very difficult to set up because it would not be very easy to drop large quantities of hot melted metal from the sky.

Unexplained phenomena of this nature have been seen and noted down for centuries, but the modern concern with UFOs began in 1947, when there was an unusually large number of reported sightings. In the last 50 years there have been over 10.000 such reports in Britain alone. Most of these are in fact man-made objects such as aircraft and satellites, or astronomical phenomena such as falling stars. However, many cases remain unexplained leading experts to the conclusion that beings from other planets have indeed visited our planet!

In another case in the 1980s Les and Linda Burham were cycling together along a country road in Sussex when a sudden, blinding light almost caused them to fall off their bicycles. As they stopped to cover their eyes, they felt intense heat and heard a noise like the sound of a high speed train. A minute or so later they were able to look up again, and were greeted with the sight of a huge, diamond-shaped metal object floating above the treetops, giving out flames and a loud noise.

They watched in shocked silence as the gigantic structure climbed high into the air and disappeared at great speed out to sea.

As they cycled the short distance home, Les and Linda suffered headaches and sickness, and during the next few days experienced stomach trouble and minor skin burns. As a result of illness and depression Linda was unable to go to work for nearly six weeks.
