(50 MARKS)

Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow:

Holland is situated by the sea and over 25% of the country is below sea level so it is not surprising that floods, when water rises up to over 1 meter, are a constant problem. The Dutch have done everything they can to prevent such disasters. They have even built walls to keep out the sea. However, these efforts have often been unsuccessful and many people have lost their lives in floods. Unfortunately, experts predict that over the next century rainfall will increase and the sea level will rise even higher.

Recently an ambitious building company called Dura Vermeer found an unusual solution to the problem. In a village not far from Amsterdam, the company is building amphibious houses, or houses that can float on water. The idea of houseboats is, of course, not new. Amsterdam has had houseboats for centuries.

The main difference between the old houseboats and the new amphibious houses is in the foundations, the bottom part that supports the building. Like most houses, the foundations are built on land. However, in ordinary houses the foundations prevent the house from moving. In the amphibious house, the foundations are designed to help the house move. If there is a flood, the house rises. When the water goes down, the houses sink back to their original level.

The idea has proved very popular. In addition, Dura Vermeer is planning a floating town near Schiphol airport which will include floating schools, hospitals and shops. Another company has plans to build a similar neighbourhood in Leenwarden. They are going to start with 150 houses there and hope to build as many as 20.000 in different areas throughout the country over the next 20 years.

A. Choose the statement a, b, c or d which fits best according to the passage.
